END OF LIFE PRODUCT INDEX

Motorola SPS follows the industry standard “EIA-724 Product Life Cycle Data Model” to track the life cycle of its product. This model tracks the product’s life cycle from “Product Newly Introduced” to “Product Phase Out.” Products can be phased for a variety of reasons: improved product performance, change in technology roadmap, process obsolescence, market decline, etc. When products are discontinued, a suggested possible replacement device or an alternative source of supply for discontinued devices are made available when possible.

For a list of discontinued devices with possible alternative suppliers, please contact your local Motorola sales office or authorized distributor, or visit the following URL:
